Good morning, Lauren,

Thanks for letting me know that the comment letter I submitted to you on behalf of NPCA had clerical errors. I regret those errors and appreciate that you provided an opportunity to correct them.

As I offered when I gave you a call last week, I am attaching two documents to this email. The first document shows the corrections in “track changes.” The second document is a “clean” version of the comment letter.

I checked all the footnotes, and the attached includes all the necessary clerical corrections. Additionally, where footnotes did not include a page number cite, I added those to make the information easier for you to locate. I made no substantive edits to the comments.

Finally, many thanks for letting me know you were able to download the various attachments from the shared drive.

Let us know if you have any questions about the comments or if we can otherwise be of assistance.

Best,
Sara
